SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD

Remember, October 31st is the deadline for getting car tags without having to pay a penalty.

The local VFW will have a dance this Saturday night for members and their guests.

With the passing of Mrs. Campbell on Saturday, another generation of Grenada County people is becoming extinct.

Thanks to Dr. James L. Houston of Belzoni for a renewal. James is one of Reese's boys.

Welcome to Mrs. Mildred Williams, who is a new getter of the GCW. Mrs. Williams must, indeed, be a good mother, to have such nice little daughters.

Also welcome to S. B. Campbell of St. Louis, Mo. He is a son of the late Mrs. Ida Campbell.

H. G. Williams of Dean Drive came in with his annual dues the other day.

Mrs. Gladys Bryant, who is very prompt, renewed last week.

Mrs. Hal Cullen and daughter, Mrs. Sam Sorrells were down for Mr Whitaker's funeral. While here, Mrs. Cullen paid her annual dues.

Grenada High Bulldogs will play host to the Oxford Colonels Friday night at Proby Field.

Grenada friends of William Winter are pulling for him to be elected Speaker of the House.

We have heard a lot of grumbling from parents in Grenada, about the amount of 'home work' the teachers are assigning the children.

Pvt Buddy Avent up in Rhode Island is missing going squirrel hunting. According to his mother, Mrs. Louise Avent, Buddy will be home for a visit around November 15th.

Among those who recently renewed to the GCW are; W. M. Estes, of the Plant; Mrs. Guy James, Rt. 4; J. E. Boushe, Rt. 3; Brother E. R. Henderson, Verona, Miss.; Dr. H. T. Rogers, Mrs. W. F. Rogers, and Atty Thomas A. Bell, city.

We, the Whitakers, again thanks all of those who were so good, kind and thoughtful, during the illness and death of papa.

In our rush last week, we omitted a posted notice for Mr. Jeff Marter of out east. It is in there this week, Mr. Jeff.

See where Ike Herrod, long-time employee of the Illinois Ceneral System, has taken his retirement. I bet Ike and Harry Gammon will spend a lot of time on Grenada Lake now.

Mr. T. P. Pulliam, another old IC man, has taken his retirement.

See where Miss Mary Virginia Bennett of Grenada, is a member of the 41-piece orchestra at MSCW.

Don't miss "To Hell and Back" at the Grenada Theatre starting Saturday at 10 p. m. through Wednesday. It is supposed to be a grand picture.

We are sorry that we had to omit the article last week about the "One Woman's Flower Show" in Greenwood. But we left out a lot of stuff.

Supervisor elect, Noel Staten of Beat Five was seen in town Saturday

It takes a long time to get used to a death in the family.

Mr and Mrs. Cann of the Forestry Department, seem to be mighty nice people.

Will Purdie seems to be happy now that squirrel season has opened

If YOU need any job-printing done, how about calling us!

John Hamby was seen on Green street Wednesday morning.

People who are crazy about duck hunting should each years send a check to Ducks Unlimited. Because, without this organization, there would be no ducks to hunt.

MRS. IDA CAMPBELL, 91, DIED HERE SATURDAY

Oldest Methodist Lady Was Mother Of 13

Mrs. Ida Lynn Campoell, beloved

senior citizen of Grenada, passed away peacefully at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, October 15, 1955 at the age of 91 in her historic hill-top home. She was well and active until the day of her death.

She was born April 20, 1864 in Staunton, Va. to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Steinbock. On June 10, 1884 she was married to the late Dr. James Henry Campbell in Staunton. In order to catch an early train, the young couple were married in a 5:30 a. m. ceremony. Then they journeyed by boat down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers to their new home in Grenada.

Dr. Campbell, who died June 28, 1905, is remembered here yet by many. He was a broker as well as a physician. He was a veteran of the Civil War. He is also remembered for his remarkable devotion to duty in the 1878 yellow fever epidemic. Because he refused to quit his post as postmaster during the epidemic, he was reappointed postmaster by President Rutherford B. Hayes, a Republican. Dr. Campbell was an ardent Democrat. Such an appointment in those days was practically unheard of.

Mrs. Campbell's sister, Mrs. Alice Cobb and brothers, Harry and Walter Steinbock preceded her in death many years ago. Her surviving children are: Mrs. Ida Campbell Payne who made her home with her mother here; Mrs. Sally Blair of Decatur, Ala. and Stephen B. Campbell, of St. Louis, Mo. Mrs. Campbell's other children, now dead, were: Lynn Campbell, Harry E. Campbell, Horace, Stewart, Mrs. Katherine C. White, May Campbell, twins Mary and Margaret, George and Jim Campbell.

Mrs. Campbell was an ardent Bible student and taught the J. H. Hall Bible Class of the Methodist Church from 1915 until 1952. She was a member of the Missionary Society and president of it for 45 years.

She was an expert needle woman and while Grenada College was in existence, she always designed and made the graduation dresses for the girls.

The Campbell home is as remarkable as its late occupant. It was built in 1925 by Rev. Nunnerly, a missionary to the Indians, and is believed to be the oldest existing structure in Grenada.

The funeral was held at 4 p. m. Sunday at Garner Bros. Funeral Home with Rev. F. A. Sutphin officiating. Burial was in Odd Fellows Cemetery.

Robert A. Clark, 84, Dies At Sparta

Funeral services for Robert Arthur Clark, 84, who died Wednesday, Oct. 12, 1955 were held at 3 p. m. Thursday at the Sparta Church, south of Holcomb with Rev. Robert Buskirk of Holcomb officiating.

Mr. Clark was born in February 1871. National Funeral Home of Grenada had charge of arrangements.

Further details were unavailable.

The public is cordially invited to call that afternoon and view the eight offices in the handsome one story jaxstone building. The building has a modern glass and aluminum front. Atop the building is a huge electric clock and thermometer so that Grenadians can readily ascertain the time and temperature from all over the uptown district.

The five doctors in the building are: Dentists C. K. Bailey, Jr., Sam Maracalco and Joe Williams; Dr Wheeler Johnson, chiropractor and Dr. Frank Houston, optometrist. Mr Defenbaugh also has his office there and there is one vacancy.

Dr. R. A. Clanton, mayor, and John McEachin, city manager, will cut the ribbons to the two front doors. Dr. John Landrum, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will deliver the invocation.

LUMBER FIRM MUST PAY MARTER SURVIVORS

High Court Reverses Lower Court's Decision

Survivors of a Mississippi logger will be entitled to workmen's compensation benefits, the State Supreme Court ruled Monday.

The court contended that an employer cannot escape responsibility of its employes welfare by "pretending" to place them under an independent contractor.

Attorneys Leon Provine of Grenada and Chester Summers of Oxford represented Mr. Marter's interests.

Grenada Court Reversed

The ruling reversed the decision of the Grenada County Circuit Court and the Workmen's Compensation Commission in a logging accident that claimed the life of Cecil Marter at Grendaa, March 23, 1951.

The lower court decision was that Mr. Marter's survivors were not entitled to benefits through the Cathey-Williford-Jones Lumber Co. because he was employed by an independent agent, Jack Clark, who was cutting logs for the company and who had had no insurance on Mr. Marter.

"We are reluctant to reverse the finding of the attorney-referee, the commission and the trial judge", Justice W. G. Roberds wrote, "but where it is clear, as it is here, that the defence of independent contractor is mere pretense, it is our duty to do so."

The court said before the Workmen's Compensation Act was passed Mr. Marter worked for the lumber company. After that, the company made an arrangement with Mr. Clark fro cutting their logs and, Mr. Marter was hired by Mr. Clark, at the request of the company.

Firm Furnished Facilitels

But the company furnished the equipment Mr. Clark used, supervised the cutting of timber and did his bookkeeping.

"It is not conceived how Mr. Clark could have been independent of the lumber company under the facts of this case", Justice Roberds said.

Presbyterians Anticipate New Pastor's Arrival

Grenada Presbyterians are anticipating the arrival in early November of their new pastor, Dr. Dean A Bailey and Mrs. Bailey.

Dr. Bailey is at present completing work on his thesis at Emory University in Atlanta, Ga. The young minister has studied theology in Scotland and has served as a pastor in West Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Davis and family were weekend guests of Mr and Mrs. Edward Mullen in Jackson.

We Need William Winter For Speaker Of The House

Like a great many other Mississippians, we supported Judge J. P. Coleman for Governor last summer. We openly announced our backing of him in both primaries. We were for him because we knew him and liked him, but a good deal more than that, we were for him because we felt that he represented a wholesomely new and fresh viewpoint in our state's political picture. We think that Mississippi can well afford to have a lot more of that same vigorous young leadership in other positions of our state government, and we feel that she must have it if the Coleman administration is going to do the job that the people have appointed it to do.

In this regard, we are thinking primarily about the speakership of the House of Representatives - that highly important post which is being sought by our county's representative, William Winter. This office can well hold the key to the success or failure of the Coleman legislative program for the Speaker of the House is vested with the authority of appointing the membership of every standing committee, in addition to referring all bills, naming all conference committees, and passing on all parliamentary questions that come before the House. It is not hard to see that the speaker of the House can be a mighty important figure to deal with on the legislative level. No other one man has as much say-so as he does in the passage of legislation.

We feel very strongly that here, of all places in our state government we must have a change, and we think the people have given the House a decisive mandate for a change. It was our observation that one of the chief difficulties that the last legislature ran into was in the fact that the thinking of much of the leadership of the legislature was apparently in conflict with that of a majority of the rank and file members of the legislature. It is unthinkable that we shall fall into that plight again. We can help avoid it by seeing to it that a vigorous new speaker like William Winter is elected in the House of Representatives.

William Winter will be no mere yes-man for the Coleman administration, but we can be sure that he possesses the same forward-looking philosophy with the same firm faith in the future of our state that is shared by our governor-elect. We believe that these two young men will work together to provide that harmonious and constructive administration that we and so many others thought we were voting for last August.

If William needs any recommendation to the House members-elect who may not know him we would be glad to give it. It should suffice to point out that the people of this county have reelected him twice without opposition. At the age of 32 he possesses the ability, the experience and the character to make the House of Representatives the kind of speaker that will reflect credit on them and the people they represent. We think that the members of the House owe it to themselves and to the people to elect William Winter to the speakership.

Clover Planting and Management

Two methods of getting back volunteering stands of clover in high sods are to graze the area down close, or to use the mowing machine to get off the grass. If the grass you remove is good, stack it or bale it for hay.

Don't plan to have clovers on more than one-fourth to one third of your pasture acreage. This will be all you'll need. Then you will still have three-fourths to two-thirds of your sod land left for frosted grass grazing.

Many acres will need replanting to clovers. Use the ASC program and replant at the recommended seeding rate per acre. Do not sow clover seed on top of the ground in high sod. Get the sod off and drill in the peas. The sod seeder is a good machine for this.

Winter peas are recommended for planting in Bermuda and Johnson grass sods.

If you plan to plant clover this month in a cereal and the cereal still has not been planted, plant them at the same time. If you have oats or wheat that was planted in September and want to get clover in it, graze the cereal down and either drill the clover seed or sow it on top of the ground.

Tractor Care

Make that expensive farm tractor last longer. As soon as you are through with it for the season, give it a thorough check-up.

Make a list of all needed parts and order them. Give the tractor a complete lubrication job. Clean all parts thoroughly. Protect the radiator. If you plan to continue use of the tractor during the winter, put anti-freeze in the radiator. If you are going to store the tractor, drain the radiator. If it is to be stored, jack it up off the ground and put it under shelter.

Hog Production

The long-time hog outlook appears favorable. On the short time basis, hog production like any other farm enterprise, has its ups and downs. But with population constantly increasing, meat consumption will also increase.

Mississippi is still in a deficit hog production area. Mississippi packers import most of their hog supplies from out of state. Here you can increase production to meet local demand.

Hog production is adaptable to just about any size farm and fits well with other farm operations.

In producing hogs for market, efficiency is what counts. Plenty of home grown feed is a must. Sanitation is a prime consideration in profitable hog production.

For more information on producing hogs at a profit, see your local county agent and get a copy of Extension Publication 247, Hog Management.

Insect Control

Don't give boll weevils and other cotton insects food and a place to hibernate. As soon as you have picked out a cotton field, cut and shred the stalks. This removes much of the winter feed for the weevils and at the same time protects the soil from sheet erosion. Cutting the stalks now, will reduce the number of boll weevils going into hibernation and make next year's season control easier. This is especially true in normal weevil "hot spots."

IMPORTANT IN MISSISSIPPI!
What is it?

Sardis Dam in Panola County is the nation's largest earth-filled dam. Like Arkabutla, Enid and Grenada dams, this is part of extensive flood-control work in Northwest Mississippi. The large lakes formed by these dams are also gaining favor as recreation spots.

there's no doubt about the importance of the beer industry in Mississippi. Wholesalers and retailers have a $29 million investment here . . . employing over 16,295 Mississippians . . . and the beer industry is the fourth largest taxpayer in the State, paying over $4 million a year. It is largely through public acceptance of legally regulated beer, as the beverage of moderation, that beer has grown in importance to Mississippi.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Luke 4:1-15. Devotional Reading: Hebrews 4:12-16.

How to Win

Lesson for October 23, 1955

NOBODY can be tempted to do what he can't do. Nobody can be tempted to do what he doesn't want to do. Of course somebody can say to you, "Do this," but if you can't or don't want to do it, the words are only words in your ear, they are no temptation, and you can't be said to have "resisted" what did not appeal to you at all. Furthermore, nearly always temptation means the pull of desire, not for something evil in itself but only a good out of place, or a lesser good in place of a possible greater. If a child takes the money he was going to put into Sunday school and spends it for candy on Saturday night, that does not mean that candy is bad in itself, or that eating it is a sin. But the child is tempted to a lesser good when a greater good was possible.

Dr. Foreman

Questions About Temptation

The higher in the scale of life you go, the more this is true. Persons who live on a low level may easily be tempted to gross sins, because they don't have any strong desire for good, or to do good. Persons who live on a high level are much more likely to be tempted with good than with evil, for they habitually desire good. The temptation consists in seeing the lesser good so clearly that one forgets to look around and see the greater good. Now the temptations of Jesus were of this sort. There is no evidence that he ever felt an urge or even a slight inclination to do what is wrong in iteself. There is evidence that he was tempted to do some good things that were not the best things. Take Luke's story of the temptations in the wilderness. One was to turn stones into bread—surely no sin? In a hungry world, to produce more bread would be a good thing. Another temptation was to get control of the kingdoms of the world. Was that not what he came to do? Or the third temptation again,—to trust in the protecting care of God: who would call that a sin? Yet each of these, under the circumstances and conditions, was not the right thing for Jesus, because not the best thing; and so he knew all these for what they were—temptations of Satan. We can ask many questions about temptation: where it comes from, what kind of persons are tempted, how to recognize it, and so on. But the question most of us want to know is, How can I win?

How to Lose

There are two sure ways of losing the fight against temptation, whether in its lower or its higher forms. One is by sheer resistance, just saying No. If your temptation is liquor, for instance, it won't do you a particle of good to stand in front of a tavern door or to sit in a chair with a glass in your hand, just shutting your eyes and shaking your head and saying "No, I won't." Because, before long, you will. Mere stubbornness will go a long way; but not even Jesus tried to meet temptation with a simple empty No. Another way to lose your fight is to debate the question. In the vivid story of the first temptation (see Genesis 3) the serpent just gets Eve's mind to thinking about how fine that fruit was.

The Sword of Spirit

Every Bible reader knows how Jesus won his victory over temptations: by using the "sword of the Spirit," the Word of God. But there is a right and a wrong way to use a sword. There are two ways of using the Bible as a defense against Satan. One of these ways works, the other does not. It will not do simply to quote the Bible. The Bible is not a sort of magic wand which you just wave in Satan's face will make him go away. Just repeating Bible verses is not enough. The only Scripture which is any good in temptation's struggles is Scripture which you have first "hid in your heart," that is to say committed to memory, and what is more important, Scripture which has become part of you. It is not quite enough to say, "God says —." Take the next step: "God says—and I believe it." You've got to make God's word your own, not just with the top of your mind but down to the bottom of your heart. So believed, the Word becomes life invincible.

With the opening of squirrel season Saturday, Oct. 15th, we would like to give a few words of advice: If you are hunting on land that belongs to someone else, be considerate of him. Visiting At Home At Oxberry Tillman Martin, resident of St. Louis the past three years, is visiting indefinitely in the home of his father, W. W. Martin, and family in the Oxberry community.

Tillman grew up at Holcomb, graduated from high school there in 1934, and was given his first position by Mr. Whitaker, who was then editor of the Grenada Sentinel. This job, Tillman states, was as "secretary" to Mr. Whitaker and consisted of doodling, answering the telephone, and saying nervously, "Hold the phone! I'll call Mr. Whitaker."

A 1950 graduate of Mississippi Southern College, Tillman taught English a year at Magee, south of Jackson. In 1951 he taught Spanish at Charleston, Missouri, and in 1954, English at Morrisonville, Illinois. Since March of this year he has authored the "Mississippi Scribblers" column for the Clarion-Ledger—Jackson Daily News and has also written numerous news and magazine feature articles, short stories and poems, and a series of biographical articles on Mississippi writers for Southern Observer. He is a member of Mississippi Poetry Society and will have verse in the Society's 1955 anthology to appear this fall or winter.

W. W. Martin, Jr., the father, suffered a near fatal brain stroke in January of this year. He survived, however, and was again able to get about, but fell and shattered a hip just recently. Despite his 69 years, he is showing rapid improvement.

Aircraft Effect for '56 Dodge

Unique high-sweep rear fender tail fins lend an aircraft-like effect to the new Dodge cars for 1956. They, with the twin-jet taillights immediately establish this car's identity. Framed with a gleaming band of chrome, the taillight area boasts a unity of design seldom achieved in automotive styling. On Custom Royal models, the taillight and back-up light are housed in slotted chrome bezels. At night, light from the taillight shines through the slots, aiding in side visibility. On the deck lid, a new crest serves as identification and is similar to the one used in the front. Reflecting the treatment given the front end, a slim "V" on V-8-equipped models is placed directly below the crest. Dual chrome exhausts, as shown, are standard on all Custom Royal V-8 models.

Mississippi Oilmen To Hear Five National Leaders

VAUGHEY MSGR. BRUNINI ELLIS CAMPBELL THOMPSON

State Men, Heads of National Organizations, To Take Part In Vicksburg Oil and Gas Meet

JACKSON, Miss. (Special) — The Mississippi-Alabama Division of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association will conduct its eleventh annual membership meeting at Vicksburg on October 27 and 28, featuring on its program five of Mississippi's most outstanding sons.

Four of these men are heads of national organizations; one is the principal officer of an international group.

W. M. Vaughey, prominent independent oil producer of Jackson and a former president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association's Mississippi-Alabama Division, currently is serving his second year as president of the 13,000-member Independent Petroleum Association of America.

A. Boyd Campbell, Jackson merchant and civic leader, is 1955 president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Jackson mayor Allen C. Thompson is president of the nation-wide American Municipal Association.

Tom Q. Ellis, serving his fifth successive term as clerk of the Mississippi Supreme Court, presently holds the highest office, that of General Grand High Priest, of the Royal Arch Masons, an international group which is the world's largest fraternal organization under one head.

The Right Reverend Monsignor Joseph B. Brunini, J.C.D., V.G., pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Jackson, is president of the Catholic Hospital Association of America, a national organization of hospital administrators.

The Vicksburg meeting in which these outstanding Mississippians will participate will be the eleventh membership meeting of the local division of the industry-wide Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association. Vicksburg attorney E. L. Brunini, current Mississippi - Alabama Division president, will preside over the business sessions of the meeting.

The Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association is spokesman for the oil and gas industry in this area, and is composed of all elements of that industry. In Mississippi, oil and natural gas development has grown, in the short period of 16 years since the first oil discovery, to a position of economic importance to the state second only to the generations-old agriculture and timber industries.

The Mississippi - Alabama Division of this oil and gas industry association was organized in 1944 with headquarters in Jackson. E. D. Kenna, executive vice president, has administered the affairs of the Jackson office since 1945. Today, according to Kenna, oil and gas companies and independent oil men among the association's 477 members are credited with about 95 per cent of all the work done in developing Mississippi's oil and natural gas resources.

Besides President E. L. Brunini and executive vice president E. D. Kenna, the association's officers include First Vice President E. A. Stopping Socialism Is Topic To Clubmen

Robert B. Snowden, manufacturer and farmer of Memphis, addressed a joint meeting of the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis Clubs Monday on the Campaign for the 48 states.

The group, of which Mr. Snowden is an officer, is seeking more members to bring about the following objectives:

1. Limit the power of Congress to tax; 2. Limit the power of Congress to spend; 3. Decentralize power and restore the sovereignty of the individual states; 4. Recover and maintain the freedom of the individual; maintain the solvency of the nation.

Presiding were: Marshall Perry, president of the Kiwanis Club; Bill Manscoe, president of the Lions Club and Maurice Moore, president of the Rotary Club.

The Campaign for the 48 States is a national, non-partisan movement which would add five amendments to the U. S. Constitution by 1960. The amendments are:

The Reed-Dirksen Amendment - to limit the power of Congress to tax,

The Byrd-Bridges Amendment - to limit the power of Congress to spend

The Mundt-Coudert Amendment - to reform the electoral college to take away the power now exercised by pressure groups,

The Reed-Walter Amendment - to give the states full power to amend the Constitution without the intervention of Congress, and

The Bricker Amendment - to prevent overriding the Constitution and our domestice law by means of treaty powers.

Membership to the Campaign for the 48 States is open to everyone - at only a penny a day. Typical of the response of new members is this statement from a New Orleans businessman - "I do not see how anyone who has $3.65 to spare can turn down a plan which, if successful, will mean so much to the country."

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH NEWS

Polio vaccine is now in the hands of most of the physicians and druggists throughout Mississippi, according to Dr. A. L. Gray, Director of Preventable Disease Conrtol, State Board of Health.

In calling the attention of the public to the availability of the Salk vaccine, the state director urges parents of children in the 5 through 9 age group to have these children vaccinated now by their private physicians to be sure of protection before the next polio season.

"The supply of vaccine available is still short of that needed, and will be so for several weeks; but already there is enough available for the first injection for most of the children in the 5 through 9 age group who have not had vaccine", stated Dr. Gray.

In an effrot to secure the most effective use of the vaccine while the supply is limited, the State Advisory Committee on Voluntary Control of Distribution of Polio Vaccine has stipulated that at present the vaccine should be used only for the 5 through 9 age group.

LIFEGUARD DESIGN—A mother makes sure that her son is securely seated in a 1956 Ford Sunliner. The new Fords, which will be shown to the public Friday (September 23) incorporate five safety features in a "lifeguard design" intended to reduce chances of accidental injury. On all new Fords, safety-designed steering wheels, door latches and rear view mirrors are standard equipment. Wheels are designed to absorb force if the driver is thrown forward, reducing the chance his chest might strike the steering column hub. Safety door latches (lower left) will resist crash impact, and help keep passengers inside the car where they are twice as safe, according to research figures. Mirrors have a special backing to help prevent shattering. Optional seat belts will withstand up to 4,000 pounds of force. Optional crash cushions for instrument panels and sun visors will provide added protection if a passenger is thrown forward.
